

London Traffic – Just as Bad as Before

Scroll to the last item of this SPIN CYCLE link and note more first hand observer accounts of London Traffic degrading to its pre-congestion charge tumult passed from Londoners to an affected business group. Is it not just about time to drop the plan and move on to the sound alternative plan proposed here

http://www.newsday.com/news/local/politics/ny-5486173dec03\_0,5691240.story

SPIN CYCLE:

Dan Janison | dan.janison@newsday.com

December 3, 2007

TOLL TALK: The state commission studying Bloomberg's proposal to impose tolls on motorists entering Manhattan is showing strains. One member, Assemb. Richard Brodsky (D-Westchester), complained to chairman Marc Shaw about efforts to narrow the scope of the group's research. In Port Washington, Bill Goodman of the New York State Messenger and Courier Association, agitating against the plan, tells us his group consulted with two courier companies in London who reported "traffic is as tough as it was before" congestion-pricing.